JOHN T. BRODERICK
SUBMASTER

JOSEPH R. SARDELLA
ASSISTANT TO THE PRINCIPAL

To the Class of 1967

Now that you have graduated you can look back on your four years at Wakefield High School. I hope that you have profited by these four years. We feel that we have done our part in equipping you to compete successfully in the life you have chosen. Now it is up to you.

Although you are now leaving Wakefield High School and are eagerly looking forward to wider horizons, remember that the high school is always ready to help you whether you are seeking academic or vocational guidance, employment references or admission to schools of higher education.

You are graduating at a time of limitless opportunities. In order to take advantage of these opportunities, you should make every endeavor to continue your education. Do not let this be the end of your formal education.

Congratulations and Best Wishes to all members of the Class of 1967.

The National Honor Society, sponsored by Bernice L. Caswell, consists of forty-two members. The members all maintain a high scholastic average. Some of their responsibilities are the Color Guard, tutoring, and the direction of graduation exercises. The officers are Frank Spencer, President; Lorraine Garnett, Vice President; Marilyn Dodds, Secretary; Kenneth Williams, Treasurer; Barbara Kelly, Historian.

Our governing body and the voice of the students at W.H.S. is the Student Council. Sponsored by Mr. Connors, the Council meets homeroom periods to carry on the duties of elected student representatives. Among the many duties and activities of the Council, are conducting four dances a year, running the school election, boosting school spirit, and awarding scholarships. Through hard work and responsible leadership, the Student Council accomplishes these objectives.

INTER NOS

sitting: L. Marshall, P. Myers, B. Kelly, C. Anderson, C. Fregosi, Dr. Upham; standing: C. O'Brien, J. French, J. Tassi, A. Landry, L. Garnett, J. Stoddard, J. Cardillo, P. Campell

Inter Nos is the junior and senior girls' club of the school. A delightful, yet painless initiation is held in October for all prospective members. The girls are fortunate to have Doctor Elizabeth Upham as their director. Business meetings, informal talks, and refreshments provide a casual atmosphere for the monthly gathering of girls. The Mother-Daughter Tea and the Father-Daughter Supper are just two of the many activities planned to stimulate and develop new interests in each member.

THESPIANS

A lively group in our school is the Thespians. This ambitious club, directed by Mrs. Debra Bach, meets twice monthly to gain acting experience and to acquire a better knowledge of stage construction, make-up, and costuming. At each meeting, members present workshops which they themselves have directed, after which a panel of critics from the general membership offers praise and constructive criticism. The major production of the year is the Spring Play.

SENIOR PLAY

CAST

On December 2nd and 3rd, after many weeks of preparation, the class of 1967 presented The Late George Apley, a play by John P. Marquand and George S. Kaufman. Under the direction of Mrs. Deborah S. Bach, this light comedy about early Boston was entertainingly performed by our actors and actresses. From the many afternoon rehearsals to the final curtain call, the cast, crew, and production staffs, all involved in the production of this play, will never forget the excitement of the stage.

P. T. S. A.

The P.T.S.A. Board was founded to better the relationship among parents, teachers, and students. The members, elected by the students, correlate understanding between the school and the public. The board sponsors "Back-to-School Night," raises money for a scholarship fund, and purchases pins for the National Honor Society.

SPEECH & DEBATE

The members of the Debate Club get a chance to test their skills of discussing an issue when the club gets together for their informal debates. This year, under the direction of Miss Henderson, the Club entered for the first time into competition with other schools and performed quite well.

row one: J. Goldman, M. Hillson, M. Cronin, J. Keating, J. Rockel; row two: Miss Henderson, D. Doria, J. Taggart, L. Norton, L. Freidman, K. Morris, M. Gatta; row three: J. Lewis, S. Morris, R. Hanson, R. Goldsmith

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

Future Teachers of America had a full membership from all classes this year. This club, under the direction of Mr. Morse, gives the members an insight into the teaching profession. During the year, they meet people in teaching and have a chance at practice teaching in the local grammar schools.

This year our Majorettes were headed by Christine O'Brien with subheads Mary Ann Tassi and Carol Rindone. After one year of training in preparation for the squad, these girls were chosen on basis of ability, so that each girl may be proud of being a Majorette. Sponsored by Dr. Upham, the Majorettes have worked hard and added much color to our football and basketball games.

CHEERLEADERS

The enthusiastic spark generated by the Wakefield High Cheerleaders was one of the outstanding aspects of the '66-'67 sport season. After spring tryouts the squad practiced throughout the summer months as well as during the school year. Headed by Adrienne Landry, these girls have created a school spirit and pride hard to equal.

CHORALE

Chorale is a select mixed choir, with membership open to all sophomores, juniors, and seniors by audition. The musical selections are varied and range from early literature to contemporary. Always enjoyed by students, this group gives high calibre performances at both assemblies and concerts.

GIRLS' CHOIR

Girls' Choir is the most select choir of female voices. Comprised of sophomore, junior and senior girls, this group performs in the Winter and Spring Concerts, and this year has started outside appearances. The purpose of this choir is to provide the opportunity for acquaintance with literature written for female voices. This group is unique in the type of tone quality produced by high school age female voices.

SOPHOMORE GIRLS' CHOIR

This is a select group of forty-three voices, open to sophomore girls by audition. Their music is mainly folk or musical comedy, much lighter in character than that of the other groups. The purpose of this choir is to acquaint the girls with compositions suitable to their voices, for performance at the annual Winter and Spring Concerts.

FRESHMAN CHORUS

The Freshman Chorus, a mixed group open to all freshmen by audition, is another of Wakefield High's fine music groups. The members learn the basics of singing, performing along with the other Choral groups in the January and April concerts.

MADRIGAL SINGERS

The Madrigal Singers, directed by Miss Catherine Nadon, is a small mixed choir with membership open to all students in the choral department. The purpose of Madrigals is to acquaint students with early and contemporary music written for small ensembles, with emphasis on the Madrigal Era. Most music is sung a cappella.

ORCHESTRA

The orchestra, under the new direction of Mr. Boisen, has continued to make great progress even though it is a comparatively new addition to the Wakefield High music department. This group of musicians shows great promise for the future.

CONCERT BAND

The Wakefield High Concert Band is recognized as one of the finest bands in this area. The band members have greatly increased school spirit by earnest and faithful participation at football games, rallies, assemblies, and parades. The result of long hours of practice are shown in their performances, as much time and effort is spent by the students trying to attain the perfection. Their director is Mr. Boisen.

FRESHMAN BAND

The Freshman Band, under the direction of Mr. Randall, is the starting point for all those who wish to become members of the Concert Band. Each student is given individual attention so that he may make gainful improvement. Having done remarkably well, these students represent Wakefield High's future concert artists.

DANCE BAND

LOOKOUT

The Lookout, in existence since 1939, continues to make known all the current happenings to W.H.S. students. The paper also provides practical experience for students interested in journalism, acquainting the staff members with advertising, finance, reporting, and public relations. Special recognition should go to Frank Spencer, Lookout editor-in-chief, and Mr. Ryan, who energetically rushed about to meet innumerable deadlines.

A. F. S. CLUB

For the past several years Wakefield has been privileged to have a foreign exchange student attending its high school. This year's student, Brenda Payne, from Rhodesia, has been a welcome addition to our school. Enthusiasm over our past student visitors has led to the establishment of the A.F.S. Club, a new group in W.H.S. this year. Under the guidance of Mr. Daniel Blanchard, the group held receptions and assemblies for Brenda and helped the school and community to know her better.

LIBRARY WORKERS

The library workers are a group of dedicated students who assist Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Adams during their free periods. These busy volunteers can be seen filing cards, stamping books, and offering welcome aid to the students.

GIRLS' LEADERS' CLUB

Girls who wish to continue with gymnastics beyond gym classes participate in Leaders' Club, under the direction of Miss Nichols. The members work with apparatus and learn new exercises to keep physically fit.

PEP CLUB

Supporting our football team and spreading "that Wakefield spirit" is the aim of the Pep Club. This enthusiastic group of two hundred girls attends each game to cheer our boys on to victory. The members hold an annual candy sale to provide the club with transportation to the games.

row one: J. Haliday, P. Dolan; row two: A. Clemmenson, S. Lapery

ATHLETIC FRATERNITY

The Athletic Fraternity, sponsored jointly by the Coaches Reen and Della Santa, is a chosen group of boys who have accomplished certain skills and gone through a series of tests. The standards to be met by the boys were decided by the coaches early in the year. A new addition to W.H.S. activities, the group also requires use of facilities at the Y.M.C.A. Those boys who have qualified for the fraternity have gone through stiff competition and have proved their athletic skill.

Meeting during Wednesday's homeroom period, the boys of Leaders' Club maintain their physical fitness and help Coaches Reen and Della Santa with some gym classes.

MATH TEAM

The Mathematics team was formed four years ago for the purpose of encouraging students to pursue mathematics in greater depth than is possible in the classroom. The team also seeks to instill a spirit of cooperation, competition, and sportsmanship in the student. The Math team was founded also to stimulate interest in, as well as to inform members about, the field of mathematics, the basis for all science. Under sponsor Mr. Bradshaw, W.H.S. has placed first or second each year in a division consisting of twelve schools. Team captain this year was Frank Spencer.

"IT'S ACADEMIC"

row one: S. Dodd, Mr. Morse, D. Brown; row two: K. Williams, H. Alter, A. Hodgdon, F. Spencer, R. Ward

The candidates for "It's Academic" were chosen from those students who scored in the top bracket of the College Board examinations. The members, sponsored by Mr. Thomas Morse, were Frank Spencer, Robert Ward, and Andrew Hodgdon, and the alternates were Diane Brown, Kenneth Williams, Sandra Dodd, Thomas Barry, and Harold Alter. The team made two creditable performances on WHDH-TV.

RADIO CLUB

Under the supervision of Mr. Woodman, these boys of the Radio Club met to practice code and go over radio theories. The main goal of every member is to get his license to operate the ham radio. The Club's call letters are WA1FEW.

sitting: H. Jackson, S. Maher (hidden); row two: J. Andrews, S. Terry, D. Jordan, R. Johnson, J. Poges, R. Holland, Mr. Woodman

AUDIO-VISUAL

Without this group of hard working boys, all plays, assemblies, and movies would be almost impossible. Under the supervision of Mr. Sheehan and heads Richard Krol and Bob Nute, these boys learn how to run and repair audio-visual equipment.

ROCKET CLUB

The Rocket Club, sponsored by Mr. Jones, enables boys who are interested in the study of the scientific world to experiment with the development, building, and launching of model rockets. Periodic launches during the year at Breakhart Reservation culminate in a spring competition with prizes in parachute duration, altitude, spot landing, and design.

Power

Unloading the bomb

Even-down-hut-two

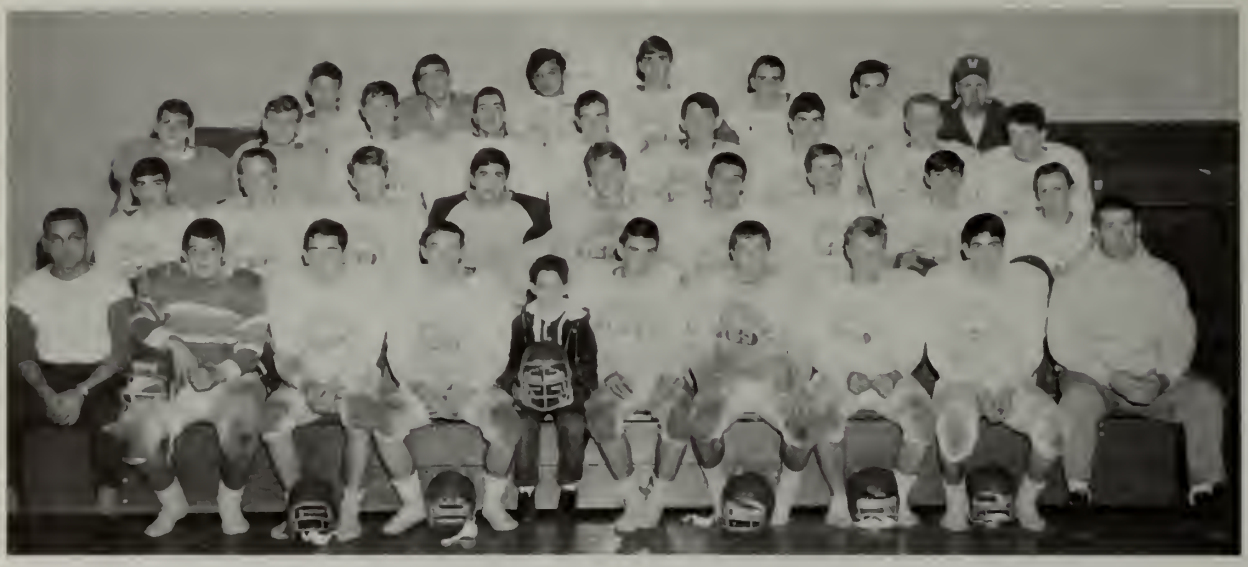

Led by co-captains Glenn Thornton and Steve Bruno, the 1966 Warriors, composed of all senior starters, streaked to six straight victories before being plagued by injuries. Pure determination and spirit brought this team to the top of the league for eight weeks, falling to defeat by powerful Melrose. Names like Paul Cerrone, Tom Holmes, Steve Bruno, Dana Lilly, Peter Dolan, Steve Nardone, Damon Bisacre, Bob Galvin, George Ball, Kevin Frey, Glenn Thornton, and Damon Black will be remembered for their contributions to this powerful ball club.

CROSS COUNTRY

Wakefield had a highly successful cross country campaign as the Warriors breezed to the Middlesex League title, captured the league meet, and placed second in the state meet. Powerful Catholic Memorial, switching from class A to class B this past year, was the only club to beat the Warriors. One of the main reasons for Wakefield's success was its tremendous depth. Another key factor was the dual running of co-captain Richard Fitzpatrick and John Cummings.

Other seniors that contributed solid performances this season were co-captain Bob Rivers, Norbert Boudar, Richard Stoney, and Frank Dell'orfano. Underclassmen who played an important part were Dan Beasley, Joe Hagarty, and Steve Whicher.

This year the Warrior skaters were headed by experienced seniors Larry Veno, Butch Knight, Tom Campbell, Tom Holmes, Barry Ramsdell, Dana Lilly, Joe McAuliffe, Bob Leavitt, Ron Ward, and captain Peter Dolan. This hustling team fought its way to a second place finish in this year's fast-skating Middlesex League.

Highlighted by a 4-4 tie with previously unbeaten-untied Melrose and a berth in the State Hockey Tournament, the season proved successful and exciting.

Depth was the key to the Warrior indoor track team this past year, resulting in a highly successful season for Coach Jim Duff and his crew. Not only did they clinch the Middlesex League title with little effort, but they also won the state class B crown as well.

Besides a star-studded array of seniors, strong underclassmen Bob Hadley, Dan Beasley, Ken Doherty, Larry Brown, and Alex Struzziero played a large part in forming this championship club. Senior stand-outs were co-captains Brian Butler and George Ball, John Cummings, Richard Stoney, Bob Rivers, Jim Hudson, Norbert Boudar, Kevin Kelley, Frank Dell'Orfano, Phil Chisholm, and Kurt Winkler.

WRESTLING

Wrestling came to Wakefield High this year for the first time. Under Coach Al Generazzo and assistant coach Ken Thompson, the matmen laid the foundation for future varsity teams. The squad can look forward to a bright future because this year's team consisted of mostly sophomores and juniors. John Mueller, Gary Moore, Bill Herland, and Steve Fay were the big guns for Wakefield this year.

BASKETBALL

The '66-'67 hoopsters, with seniors Glenn Thornton, Ron Zagaja, and Will Hill, took their share of punishment in the rugged Middlesex campaign. With first year coach Lou Della Santa at the helm, the Warriors finished with three wins and eleven losses in the league, and five wins and twelve losses overall, managing to stay out of the cellar. Led by co-captains Ron Zagaja and Randy Brown, the team had a deceiving record because of the many contests decided by less than four points. Due to the quality of young players remaining for next season, we must coin the phrase "wait 'till next year."

This year the Warrior gym team faced some of the toughest teams in the country and came out with a respectable 6 and 4 record. The gym team also received the honor of having seven men, a record number, qualify for the State Individual Meet. This year the team was paced by co-captains John Pastorello and Brian Abbott and seniors Vito Mandato and Steve Rufo. Underclassmen Mike Kelley, Barry Moore, Mike Smith, James Carisella, Chris O'Keefe, and Ron MacCauly added to the team's success.

BASEBALL

Under the knowledgeable guidance of Coach Bill Callagy, the baseball team looks forward to a successful season. This year's seniors, led by captain Bill Norton, add experience to the club, which has a nucleus of underclassmen who figure to be the key of success for this campaign.

OUTDOOR TRACK

The Gun Sounds

Defending Middlesex League champs, Class B State winners, and Belmont Relay champs, Wakefield High is famed for turning out winning track teams. Led by Coach Duff, this year should be no exception.

With most of last year's varsity team returning, our runners hope to continue their dynasty of the outdoor track circuit.

The girls' field hockey team had a very successful season, winning most of their important games. Although Wakefield couldn't beat Melrose, they were the only club in the league to score on their goalie. Seniors who will be missed next year are co-captains Sue McCullough and Donna Bisacre, Janice Moore, Pam Turner, Maria Cocorro, and Suzanne Deveau.

GIRLS' SOFTBALL

Re-developed after a lapse of several years, the girls' softball team was not extremely successful, owing to a lack of experience. The girls competed against neighboring schools at Veteran's Field.

SPORTS CANDIDS

"Whose going to tell him he missed the ball?"

"Faked him out of his sock."

"OOOFFFHH!"

"Are you serious?"

"Whose woods these are I think I know . . ."

My school and friends . . .
how important they seem now.

Yet, someday they'll be only memories.

Even in six years . . .

. . . there has been so much to remember and so much to forget.

School is the place for learning . . .

. . . but sometimes I find other things to do.

A "Love thy neighbor" assembly at Thanksgiving . . .

. . . a quaint visit to Boston at the turn of the century . . .

. . . long practices . . .

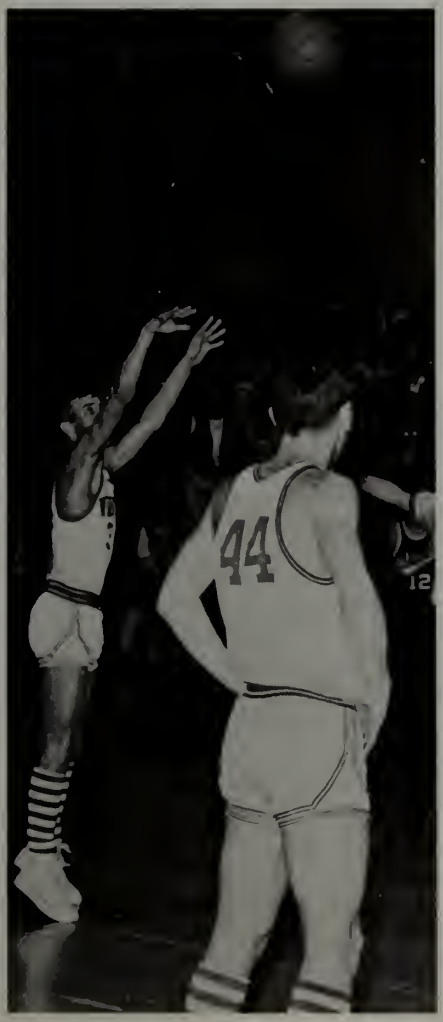

. . . and finished performances . . .

. . . scholastic achievement . . .

. . . strategy and politics in the election of class officers.

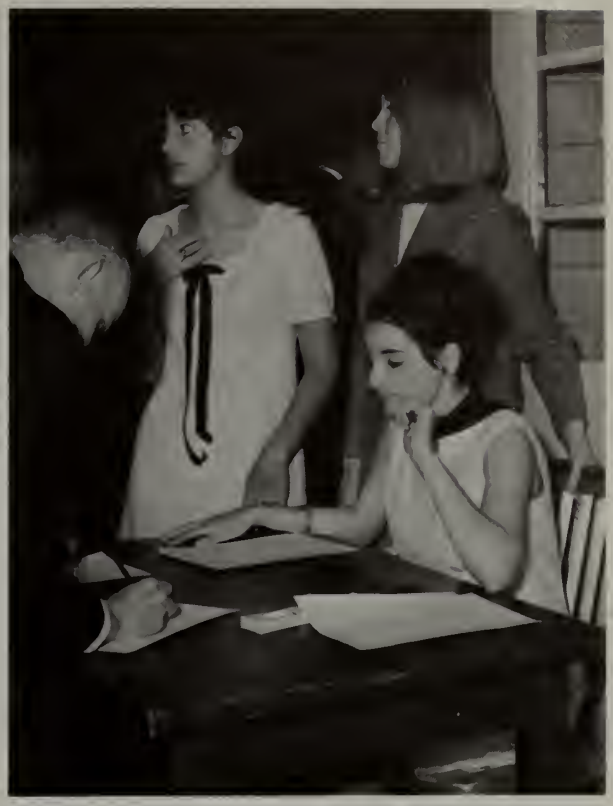

I enjoy the companionship of my peers, the relaxed atmosphere of acceptance, though there are times when parents and family seem so important.

I want freedom and a way of expressing myself . . .

but that traditional invitation to a prom means so much.

Somehow the informal moments are what I'll remember most about school.

I discipline myself when responsible to other people, but sometimes it's convenient to forget authority.

I seek new friendships to broaden the scope of my understanding.

The greatest satisfaction, however, comes from cheering my comrades and the school they represent.

I am an individual of many sides.

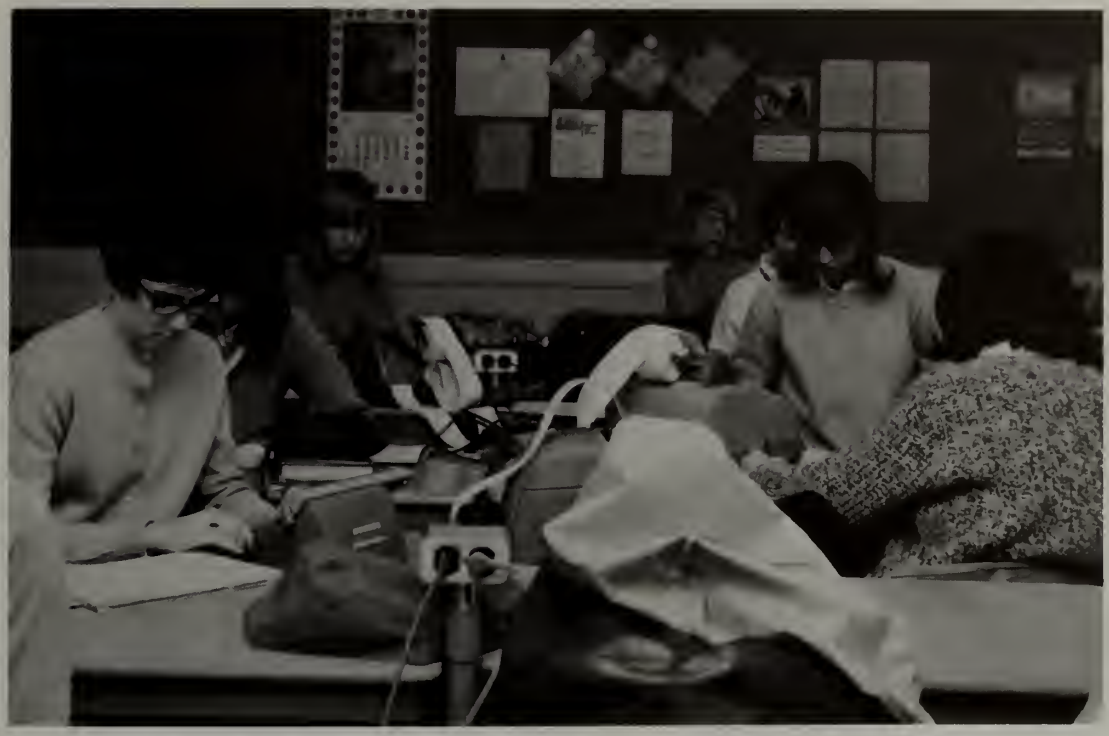

I am now on the brink of adulthood.

The abilities and qualities developed here are the guidelines for my future.

It's two o'clock; high school is over.

College, work, and reality seem frighteningly near.

I amost wish that time would stand still . . .
that I wouldn't have to let go of this part of my life . . .

"But I have promises to keep.

And miles to go before I sleep
And miles to go before I sleep."

CLASS HISTORY

FRESHMAN YEAR

On a memorable day in early September of 1963, we entered the halls of Wakefield High School as freshmen. Nervous and fearful of the unknown, we were incapable of understanding the truth of Mr. Barry's words which predicted that our four years of high school would go by quickly. Although the Atwell Building was as old and the stairwells as narrow as our schedule was confusing, we eventually mastered the "floating block" and braced ourselves for a long year of hard work.

It wasn't long, however, before the boys caught the smell of pigskin in the air, and books took second place for the time-being. Our freshman team extended Coach Charbonneau's winning streak to twenty-six straight victories until finally losing to Melrose. In the Wakefield High tradition, the frosh carried home a share of the Middlesex Football League crown with Belmont. On the football roster appeared such names as Paul Cerrone, Tom Holmes, and George Ball. The varsity squad, led by Coach Bill Tighe, had a very good season too. Despite many injuries, they lost only three games.

In other sports, the cross country team placed second in the Mass. State meet, losing only by a technicality. The varsity hockey team not only won the Middlesex League title and defeated the plebes at West Point but also reached the quarter-finals in the State Hockey Tournament. The varsity basketball team, led by the league's top scorer, John Sage, was also outstanding. In the spring, however, our freshman baseball team was not so fortunate and had an 8-6 record for the year.

When we were not involved in athletics or studies, we were usually enjoying some of the school's exciting social activities, such as the Cheerleaders' Sideline Shuffle, the Tomahawk Twirl presented by the Majorettes, the Student Council's successful Winter Carnival, and the ever-popular Twirp Twirl which climaxed the hilarious Twirp Week.

Our freshman year was the year for the Beatles, and Peter Floman. During the year, many of us had the opportunity to meet our versatile foreign exchange student. Peter was born in Helsinki, Finland, and often told us interesting excerpts about the life of a Finnish student. Peter spent the year with the Boody family and, as all foreign exchange students are, proved to be a definite asset to the school.

Over the years the music department at Wakefield High has always been exceptional. As freshmen we marveled at the magnificent performances given by the various choral groups, directed by Mr. McKinley: the Mixed Chorus, Girl's Choir, Chorale, and Madrigal Singers. Our Choral groups also played an important role in the production of Brigadoon. We were indeed proud that two freshmen, Patricia Myers and Heidi Willis, were among the thirteen members of the All-State Chorus representing W.H.S.

Our freshman year was marred by the death of President John F. Kennedy. As a living memorial to his great love and faith in American Youth, Wakefield High School students immediately began a successful scholarship drive in his memory.

As the school year approached a close, spirit ran high, for it was time to participate in our first class election. After exciting campaigns and a wild election rally, we gathered up the facts, made our decision, and voted. We elected John Scott, President; Barbara Kelly, Vice-President; Jim Downing, Treasurer; and Polly Bogart, Secretary.

As the year came to a close, thoughts of school were erased from our minds. We had learned a great deal and had matured an equal amount. We were confident that we had laid a good foundation and we looked forward to an even better sophomore year.

SOPHOMORE YEAR

We entered our sophomore year dubious as to our position in the high school world. We were still underclassmen in all respects, yet we had succeeded in casting off our labels as naive freshmen. We had elected class officers to represent the class of 1967 and to lead us in all school activities.

If one word were chosen to describe the winter of our sophomore year, it would have had to be "basketball." A successful basketball season for our varsity team and the unbelievable excitement of the Tech Tourney brought the members of the class of 1967 together as a unified group, proud of Wakefield High School, fervent in support of their team.

Who could ever forget Wakefield High's bout with St. John's Prep and John Qualter's one-second basket that sent us screaming from Boston Garden, "We're from Wakefield and no one could be prouder"? For the first time in the history of Wakefield, at midnight Main Street was the scene of mob rejoicing, cigar smoking, and window tapping.

We had won the Class B State Championship; Wakefield had established itself as a basketball town; Coach Charbonneau had earned the title of the "Jolly Green Giant."

Our sophomore sportsmen suffered through long practices to emerge with laudable records in all respects. The sophomore football team had a tremendous season. As half-back Kevin Frey modestly recalled, "We won a couple, we lost a couple, we tied a couple." Our trackmen were displaying good form, and the track members of our class were to become the eternal bright light in the sports career of the class of 1967.

Our sophomore class also displayed outstanding talent in the music department. Both our orchestra and band were filled with capable classmates who helped place the W.H.S. music department among the best in New England. The Madrigal Singers—among whom were Wendy Covell, Heidi Willis, John Ward, and Jeffrey Newcomer—traveled to Buffalo, New York, to appear before a group of Eastern United States music educators. The Madrigals were one of two select choruses to be chosen from the state of Massachusetts to sing at the Buffalo Convention. Wakefield High School was indeed fortunate in being so well represented.

The Student Council's annual Winter Carnival proved to be a tremendous success, and Paula Bogart was chosen to preside as Winter Carnival Queen. The sophomore members of Student Council—Joe McCauliffe, Ken Williams, Susan French, Jaine Almeida, Gary Longfellow, and Glen Thornton —had worked feverishly along with junior and senior members of the council to make the dance a success.

In the spring of 1965 our sophomore Thespians took on major roles in the poignant drama of Joan of Arc, The Lark, under the leadership of W.H.S.'s new drama coach, Mrs. Debra Bach. Robert Gambone, Alexis O'Neill, and Jack Ward, along with members of our class behind the scenes, contributed to the tremendous success of the difficult and demanding production. Once again sophomores proved their capabilities in fields of achievement.

In April, our Sophomore Hop, Fantasy in Bloom, was our first major undertaking as a class. For weeks we busily prepared for the dance. Tickets were sold, dresses were bought, and last-minute decoration of the gym brought the hop to its frenzied debut. Gary Longfellow and Jaine Almeida emerged as king and queen, and all who were present tucked Fantasy in Bloom away among their fondest memories.

While our varsity baseball team was composed almost entirely of upperclassmen, one sophomore managed to make an outstanding name for himself as first baseman. Billy Norton proved to be a consistent and valuable player for the team.

In May female members of the class of 1967 frantically practiced for cheering tryouts. Those who were fortunate enough to make the ballot anxiously awaited the verdict of their classmates' election. After two weeks of unbearable waiting, Adrienne Landry, Polly Bogart, and Kathie Cameron became the junior cheerleaders for W.H.S.

When June finally came, we entered the last lap of the sophomore year. With envy, we watched the seniors during their last three days of school, wondering if our day for rejoicing would ever come.

In the remaining days of school, there was wild and exuberant preparation for our second election assembly. Propaganda posters went up, friends yelled for their favorite candidates, and prospective class officers tried their best to influence our voting. The election assembly was tumultuous; each demonstration tried to outdo the other; Barbara Kelly went so far as to shoot herself, and junior President Tony Gallugi called upon the Mafia to help him swing the vote. When the votes were finally cast, Bill Kirmes became our President; Barbara Kelly, our Vice-President; Susan Lapery, our Secretary; and Jim Downing, our Treasurer for the junior year.

We had completed two formative years of high school; we looked forward to two better ones.

JUNIOR YEAR

Maturity is an important process which all of us undergo. As we entered Wakefield High School in September of 1965, we, as upperclassmen, started to mature and take our places in the various phases of school life. We began to hold club offices and other key positions in activities and athletic teams.

Sports, always an integral part of life at Wakefield High, were supported avidly both by players and spectators of the junior class. The football team, after an initial loss to Reading, went on to be undefeated in other Middlesex League play and finished second. In the statewide Class B rating the Warriors finished fifth with a fine 7-2 record. Also in the fall the always-strong Wakefield cross country team went undefeated in the regular season to capture the league title. The junior-dominated team was led by junior Co-Captain Richard Fitzpatrick.

Basketball again was the highlight of the winter sports scene. Finishing second in the league, the team, under the guidance of a new coach, Peter Saitta, qualified for the Tech Tourney for the second straight year. The indoor track team, containing a nucleus of junior standouts, also finished second in league competition with a 7-1 record.

The hockey team finished a good fourth in Middlesex League play. Headed by Co-Captain Ron Ward, the junior-dominated squad gained valuable experience for the following year. The gym team, generally unheralded during the season, finished strong with a 10-2 record and two individual state champions.

Outdoor track, directed by Coaches Jim Duff and "Whip" Haliday, highlighted spring sports at Wakefield High in 1966. The track team, which was voted the outstanding team of 1966, captured the Wakefield Item Road Race, the Belmont Relays for the third consecutive year, the Middlesex League championship, and the state Class B crown. A well-rounded team, many of its members were juniors.

The baseball team almost made the state tournament in 1966. Finishing third in the league with a 9-6 record, the Warriors were just edged out of a berth in their final game. Also finishing suprisingly well was the tennis team, which, under the direction of Mr. Charles Woodman, compiled its first winning season at Wakefield, losing only two of its matches.

Sports, however were not the only highlights of our junior year. School dances, the most important of which was "Jade East," our Junior Prom, were regular events. Steve Bruno and Linda DiRaffael were crowned king and queen of the prom, which featured a remarkable replica of the Taj Mahal engineered by Tom Barry. The decorations were outstanding as the committee transformed the gymnasium into a mystifying Oriental setting.

1965 brought the Florida Science Study Program to Wakefield High. Jeff Newcomer, Frank Spencer, and Nina Jay became the first Wakefield students to be chosen for the program; and they spent Christmas studying in sunny Florida while Christmas here was the warmest it had been in recent years.

We also took our place on the stage as Roberta Andrews gave an overwhelming performance as Anne Sullivan in the annual Thespians production, the Miracle Worker. Alexis O'Neill also undertook a major role in the production.

As juniors our class also made a strong showing in the field of music. Debbie Newman, Jeff Newcomer, Patricia Myers, John Ward, and Heidi Willis were among the group of students from Wakefield chosen for All-State Orchestra and All-State Chorus.

Academically our class also had much success. Many of the finalists in the annual Science Fair were juniors, and we walked away with our share of the awards. In May twenty-one juniors were inducted into the National Honor Society. Governor Volpe was the guest speaker at the induction. The Math team led by junior top scorers finished a close second in league competition.

Many new developments took place during 1965-1966 in Wakefield High. For the first time our program schedules and report cards were handled by I.B.M. machines and we received only a numerical grade at the end of each term. Although there were some bugs in the system which had to be worked out, Wakefield soon joined the automation movement.

A second foreign exchange student program was also begun during our junior year. Not only Age Dragstead, the American Field Service foreign exchange student, came to study at Wakefield, but also Patricia Costas, Alejaudrina Lirs. Rosa Marie Cifuentes, Rebecca Arueste, and Marianela Collado studied among us. The girls were participating in a program which allowed Chilean students to study in American schools during their summer vacations.

Four members of the Wakefield High faculty entered the literary ranks: Mr. Ceddia, Mr. Feudo, Mr. Sheehan, and Mr. Woodman co-authored Science on the Move, a general science text which was put into immediate use at Wakefield High.

As juniors we also participated in the first Bermuda Day held at Wakefield High. The Student Council sponsored novelty proved to be a huge success.

The election assembly and class elections rounded out our junior year. Elected were William Kirmes, President for the second time; Barbara Kelly, Vice-President for the third time; Janice Guilliano, Secretary; and Grace McCoy, Treasurer.

When June came and the class of 1966 departed, we moved into the position we had been working toward for twelve years. Our year as seniors was beginning.

SENIOR YEAR

At last we became seniors, only to be somewhat disillusioned by the fact that the senior year entailed more long hours of work than glamorous activities. No two people shared the exact same problems; nevertheless, pleasures or pressures of some kind always managed to keep each member of the student body occupied. In general, everyone was preparing for his separate future, whether it would be college or work, by attending occupational conferences, filling out college applications, taking college boards, or investigating prospects for future employment.

More specifically, however, important events took place through the year of 1966-67 which clearly characterize the class that made them happen.

Since prestige in sports is so important to a competitive town like Wakefield, the whole school depended on its teams to hold their position of "Number one." The football team played consistently through the season, drawing school and town support. In the Malden Catholic game, Wakefield came from behind during the second half to win one of the year's most exciting victories. Games like this more than made up for the relatively "unimportant" loss we suffered when Wakefield did not return from Melrose victorious on Thanksgiving Day.

During the basketball season the players did not fare so well as Wakefield's losses outnumbered its victories this year. Basketball competition in the Middlesex League, however, was exceptionally strong.

Wakefield's hockey team had more success against their arch rival; consequently, they distinguished themselves as the only team to mar the Melrose record of victories. What's more, the skaters' consistently repeating performances like the above insured them a strong position in the state hockey competition.

While speaking of consistency, our class should look to the undefeated track runners, who not only broke several records and placed first in the Middlesex League but also won for Wakefield the title of state champion when they defeated all competing teams at the state track meet.

On the whole, the average of victories and losses still made Wakefield tough competition for any team.

Turning to the artistic accomplishments of our class, we must look at the Senior Play, a tradition in every high school. This year in the production of The Late George Apley one could see that prim Bostonian standards have not changed very much during the last fifty years. Robert Gambone and Bonnie Stewart in the leading roles of Mr. and Mrs. Apley epitomized the extreme conservatism which so many prominent Bostonian families practiced at the turn of the century. Representing a new trend in America's youth, Roberta Andrews and David Edwards—as the younger Apley generation—rebelled against the obsolete social doctrines of Bostonian society.

Equally important in developing artistic interests were the choral and instrumental groups at Wakefield High School. Talented members of the Chorale and Madrigal Singers gave performances at both school and civic functions; whereas the band could be seen rallying team support at every football game. In addition, members of the band, orchestra, and choral groups, who represented Wakefield in highly selective district and state concerts, further demonstrated the high quality of musical training given at Wakefield High School.

We should also remember the scholastic achievements made in the year of 1966-67. To add to the already sound curriculum of secondary level classes, advanced placement courses in United States History and calculus were instituted in Wakefield. The National Honor Society recognized the scholastic accomplishments of the seniors by extending its membership to twenty-one additional members of our class. Merit scholars were uncommon; nevertheless, college acceptance, whether for academic or athletic reasons, was relatively high.

This year Wakefield was invited to participate in "It's Academic," a television program where public and private schools from towns throughout the state met to test their scholastic abilities.

An especially enjoyable addition to the class of 1967 came in the form of Brenda Payne, our exchange student from Rhodesia. As she talked with us formally and informally, we grew to realize that the diverse nationalities of the world's youth are united by their similar desires and ideals. In return, Brenda shared experiences with us at this school that we ourselves will remember in the future.

Led by class officers Billy Kirmes, Barbara Kelly, Grace McCoy, and Janice Giuliano, the class of 1967 attended to those activities which made the last year of high school memorable to every senior. Oracle editors and their staffs worked hard to meet deadlines, yet carefully deliberated over each section to insure that the yearbook would be a memorable account of our high school years. Equally pressured for time was the Senior Prom committee because that important date was rapidly approaching. Each member of the committee searched his imagination for an original theme that would make this social occasion truly enjoyable and successful.

As spring came and the year's end drew near, everyone agreed that he was impatient to graduate, to get out of school. Yet, there were quiet thoughts, remembering the friendships made, the good times and problems shared in the past four years; and along with these memories came the realization that the future would dim the good times and the friendships. Finally, came a feeling of regret that four years had gone by and high school was over.

The English word oracle is derived from the Latin oraculum, from orare, to speak. And that is what the 1967 Oracle does: it speaks of a class of 383 students who shared school and social life for four years, forming friendships, absorbing knowledge, and reaching maturity.

Tradition holds that the oracles of ancient Greece were divinely inspired, and I hold that this yearbook, too, is a result of inspiration. Therefore, to those inspired I here desire to give thanks:

the Oracle editors, singular people for their tasks, the staff members, who contributed time and leg-work to come up with excellent material, and

Mr. John McAteer, our adviser, for his encouragement and counsel.

Credit is also due those who aided in the actual production of the 1967 Oracle. It is through their support and admirable workmanship that we have such a fine book:

Loring Studios, our class photographer, and especially Joanne McLaughlin, studio high school coordinator,

Wm. J. Keller Inc., our publisher,

Mr. Roswell Farnham, our Wm. J. Keller Inc. representative.

Our advertisers, for making the 1967 Oracle a solvent enterprise.
